

Q61: During your life, how many times have you taken steriod pills or shots without a doctor's prescription?

In 2005, most students reported that they have never taken steroids without a doctor's prescription.

- 3.6 percent of students reported taking steroid pills or shots without a doctor's prescription one or more times during their life.
- There were no significant differences in steroid use by gender or grade level.

There were no significant differences in steroid use between 1999 and 2005.

*The estimate may not be reliable. Significance not assessed for this variable.

