

Funding public health protects our communities and kids, saves lives ... and saves money

Prevention and public health programs:

Public health keeps kids healthy and communities strong

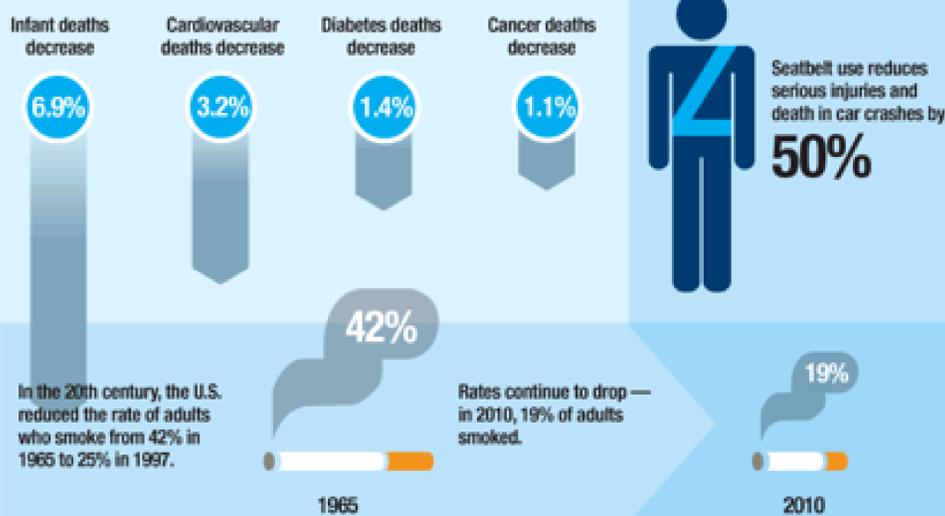

Public health and prevention programs in your community:

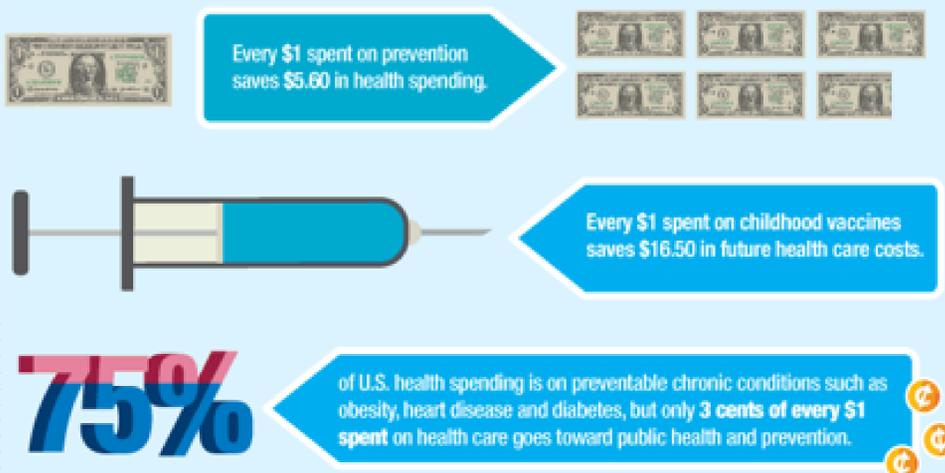

We all benefit

Public health saves lives

For each 10 percent increase in local public health spending:

Public health saves money

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."
— Benjamin Franklin

We must protect and increase funding for public health programs at all levels
